PROFESSIONAL DANCE CLASSES

Douglas Becker is a freelance choreographer and educator at work for over four decades at the intersection of ballet and contemporary dance.

A former dancer with the Joffrey Ballet in New York City, The National Ballet of Canada, the Dallas Ballet, and a principal artist with the Frankfurt Ballet under the direction of William Forsythe, for which he has reconstructed numerous works worldwide for professional companies, festivals & institutions. In ballet he studied extensively with Maggie Black, Rudolph Nureyev, Erik Bruhn, Melissa Hayden, David Howard, Marjorie Mussman and Fleming Flindt, consequently embodying an expansive knowledge of ballet, composition, repertory & improvisation.

Since 2010, Douglas Becker is master lecturer & resident artist at The University of the Arts Philadelphia where his responsibilities include teaching, staging, mentoring and advising both at the Bachelor of Fine Arts level and in the schools recently launched Master of Fine Arts program. He is also notably curator & coordinator of the school of dance's European Abroad program on an annual basis.
